

CLUE #14: THE MANY NICKNAMES OF WILD WOODS

There was once a very famous golfer named Wild Woods. He was pretty good with his putter and irons, but was often pretty crazy with his driver (hence the nickname Wild Woods). He once hit his driver so hard he got a hole-in-one on a par 5, but too often his crazy drives resulted in some unusually high scores (and some unusual nicknames). Some days he would shoot exactly par and people called him "Wild Woods" with pride. Another day he was 21 over par (due to a single hole) and people called him "Wily Woods" that day. Regardless of how far under or over par he shoots these days, he'll always be remembered for the round he played with the hole-in-one. Funny, I can't remember his nickname that day...
