Problem Statement Grading Rubric

CSSE 333—Intro. to Database Systems

Criteria (weight)	5 Exemplary	3 Satisfactory	1 Needs Improvement	Score (Weighted)
Format (x1)	Document follows the required FFET model.	Document largely follows the FFET model, but omits some sections.	Document does not follow the required FFET model.
Clarity and Conciseness (x1)	Writing is clear and unambiguous. It is not unnecessarily wordy.	Writing is mostly clear and unambiguous. Occasional instances of unclear or awkward writing.	Writing is unclear, ambiguous or excessively wordy as to detract from the points being made.
Spelling, Grammar, Punctuation (x1)	Document is free of errors in spelling, grammar and punctuation.	Document has a small number of errors in spelling, grammar, or punctuation.	Document has many errors in spelling, grammar, and punctuation.
Professionalism (x2)	Document presents a professional tone. It could be shared with a "real-world" customer without changes.	Document largely presents a professional tone. It could be shared with a "real-world" customer with minor revisions.	Document is unprofessional. The majority of the prose would have to be rewritten before sharing the document with a "real-world" customer.
Thoroughness (x2)	Document has the required number of pages. All main topics of the FFET model are discussed in sufficient detail so that a knowledgeable reader could understand all of the important issues involved.	Document has the required number of pages. All main topics in the FFET model are discussed, however a knowledgeable reader might need some additional information to understand the important issues involved.	Document does not have the required number of pages. Not all of the main topics in the FFET model are discussed. Those that are discussed lack sufficient detail to allow a knowledgeable reader to understand the issues involved.
Depth of Analysis (x3)	Document demonstrates that author(s) have considered the key issues for the project and understand the scope of the challenges they are likely to face.	Document demonstrates that author(s) have considered most of the key issues for the project and understand many of the challenges they are likely to face.	Document demonstrates only a superficial consideration of the key issues for the project. It is not clear that the authors understand the challenges that they are likely to face.	